

Workshop on Peace for All, Peace for Prosperity, and Peace for the Future!

DATE / VENUE

February 13, 2018 (Tuesday)

Auditorium, 8th Floor, GSID, Nagoya University

TIMETABLE

13:00-	Door opens
13:30-15:00	Session I: Special Lecture
15:00-15:15	Coffee Break
15:15-16:45	Session II: Panel Discussion
16:45-17:00	Closing remarks Prof. Sunate Kampeeraparb, International Student Advisor, GSID

Sponsored by Nagoya University
International Student Support Projects

Hisae Nakanishi is Professor of the Graduate School of Global Studies, Doshisha University in Kyoto, Japan. She received a Ph.D. from the University of California at Los Angeles in 1994. She was a visiting scholar at the Institute for Political and International Studies (IPIS), Iran in 2001, at the Strategic Research Center in Istanbul, 2006, and at the Department of Asian and Middle Eastern Studies at Duke University, 2015. She also gave lectures as a visiting professor at École des hautes études en sciences (EHESS) in Paris, France in March, 2017. Her publications include "The Construction of the Sanction Regime against Iran: Political Dimension of Unilateralism," in Ali Z. Marossi & Marisa R. Basst eds., Economic Sanctions under International Law: Unilateralism, Multilateralism, Legitimacy, and Consequences, Springer, 2015, p. 23-41. She has committed herself to Japan's foreign policy-making toward Iran and academic exchange programs between Iran and Japan.

SPECIAL LECTURE

MODERATOR

Dr. Yukiko Nishikawa, Professor, GSID

Dr. Hisae Nakanishi

Professor, Graduate School of Global Studies, Doshisha University

"Where does the Middle East go?: Syria, the Iran-Saudi Relationship and Jerusalem"

Since the time of the Arab Revolt that started in January, 2010, the Middle East has witnessed worsening political, social and economic instability. The Civil War in Syria has become protracted and the rivalry between Saudi Arabia and Iran has intensified. President Trump's declaration of Jerusalem as the capital of Israel became a source of conflict in the Middle East. The lecture will explain both internal and external factors that have contributed to the widespread instability in the Middle East. In particular, it will touch upon both demographic and developmental problems that the Middle East has faced and will continuously cope with. Among the causes of the growing instability are fragmentation of Arab states on the Palestine question, the demise of the oil economy, the increasing brain drain from the Middle East region, globalization of arms markets, radicalized Islamic groups and the socioeconomic isolation of youth, and the collapse of interdependency in the region. Some future prospects will be discussed at the end of the lecture.

PANEL DISCUSSION

MODERATOR

Ms. Aiza Sarwar, GSID Student

Mr. Toufic Ajaj Saredine

GSID Student from Lebanon

Mr. Karl Gerrard Tiu See

GSID Student from the Philippines

Mr. Timipere Felix Allison

GSID Student from Nigeria

Mr. Benjamin David Huffman

GSID Student from USA

CONTACT

E-Mail: inseikai@gsid.nagoya-u.ac.jp

Inseikai, Graduate School of International Development (GSID), Nagoya University

FREE
Admission