Admission Policy

As detailed in our Mission Statement, the Graduate School of International Development aims to educate researchers and professionals who can contribute to international development cooperation. We equip these researchers and professionals with excellent independent research capabilities and practical work skills.

The Graduate School of International Development seeks the following persons:

1. Those who have a strong desire to conduct empirical research on the development problems that the international community, states, and civil society organizations tackle by using social science theories and methods, and to contribute to policy-making and implementation from a global perspective;
2. Those who have the will to contribute to state- and community-building in cooperation with the international community and with a full understanding of national and local realities;
3. Those who are eager to realize sustainable development and just societies at the global level while establishing a worldwide network of governments, universities, international organizations, private companies, nongovernmental organizations, and individual citizens.

【Important Notice】 Change of application method: Web application

The Graduate School of International Development will initiate a web application system in 2022. In order to apply online, applicants must have access to a PC, printer and e-mail address. An acceptable payment method must be decided upon, and a full facial photograph must be submitted along with all necessary application documents. Applicants must first register at the My Page section of the website before starting application procedures. Applicants should allow ample time for completing application procedures. In addition, important notices regarding entrance examinations shall be sent from the university to your e-mail address. An email address should be prepared that is easy to check on a daily basis, and it should not be changed prior to April 2023.

Note: In this application guideline, all dates and times are in Japan time.
